Brooklyn Wins To Even Victories In The World Series

Wyatt Goes The Route Defeating Yanks 3 to 2

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Brooklyn's beloved Dodgers came roaring back behind great pitching by big Whitlow Wyatt to defeat the Yankees 3 to 2 today before 66,248 cheering fans and knot the world series at one victory apiece.

Game Play By Play
FIRST INNING — Dodgers
After looking at two called strikes, Walker worked the count to two and two and then was called out on another strike directly across the plate.

On the fourth pitch Herman knocked a bouncer to Gordon and was thrown out.
Chandler's curve was working perfectly and Reiser, after looking at two called strikes and getting the count to two and two, also fanned.

No runs, no hits, no errors and none left on base.

YANKES — Stump struck out on four pitches. Rolfe dragged a bunt that rolled to the edge of the grass between first and second for a single. Henrich walked on five pitches, the last two of which were very low and outside.

With the count one strike and three balls, Di Maggio knocked a roller to Reese who threw to Herman to start a double play, Reese to Herman to Camilli.

No runs, one hit, no errors and none left on base.

SECOND INNING — Dodgers
Camilli looked at a ball, fouled off a couple of pitches and then flied to Di Maggio.

Lavagetto passed two wide pitches and then grounded into a double play, Gordon to Rizzuto to Stump.

No runs, one hit, no errors and none left.

YANKES — After taking two strikes Keller slammed a single into short center.

Dickey was called out on strikes on three pitches.

Gordon walked on five pitches. Rizzuto knocked a roller to Herman and was thrown out as the runners advanced.

After taking two strikes, Chandler bounced high to Lavagetto and beat the throw to first for a single as Keller scored, but Gordon who also tried to come home was nailed at the plate, Lavagetto to Camilli to Owen.

One run, two hits, no errors and one left.

THIRD INNING — Dodgers

D. P. Houser Dies In Sudden Illness

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Duncan P. Houser, a son of the late Daniel M. Houser, who was president of the Globe-Democrat Publishing company, died after a sudden illness last night.

Coroner James J. Fitzsimons was informed that chronic heart disease and hardening of the arteries caused death.

Houser, 48, former stock broker, had not been actively engaged in business for a number of years.

He is survived by his third wife, Mrs. Edna Shelton Houser; a daughter by a former marriage, Miss Malotte Houser; a brother, Douglas B. Houser, first vice-president of the Globe-Democrat, and a sister, Mrs. Sears Lehmann.

His first two marriages were ended by divorce.

Kansas City Has Another Traffic Death

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—This city which won the National Safety Council grand award in 1939 and tied with Dallas for the same honor in 1940 already has had one more traffic death in 1941 than the total for last year.

The 25th automobile death came when Joseph Schmidt, 74, died yesterday. He had been struck by a car Monday.

Parke Banta Named Social Security Head

Succeeds George I. Haworth In The State Relief Post

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Parke M. Banta, prominent Ironton Republican, was named social security administrator today succeeding Democrat George I. Haworth as the $6,000-a-year head of the huge pension and relief agency.

Banta's appointment was announced by Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, and filled one of the last major vacancies in the Donnell administration.

Only a state highway patrol superintendent remains to be named. Haworth, first administrator of the department, which supervises old age pensions child aid and relief, presented his resignation to Donnell last spring and asked to be dropped from the payroll Sept. 1. The new administrator will take office around Oct. 15.

Not An Applicant
Donnell said Banta had not been among the numerous applicants for the job. The new administrator was last year's Republican congressional candidate from the 8th Missouri district.

Banta's name had been mentioned in connection with the state insurance superintendency, a post which was filled this week by Edward L. Scheufler of Kansas City. During the war he worked in the war risk administration.

Haworth, a Carthage Democrat who headed social security during the Stark administration, first offered his resignation shortly after Donnell took office.

The new governor delayed its acceptance, however, until he could find a successor. Haworth has spent most of the intervening time in Texas, although technically he remained head of the department.

Gasoline From Molasses

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Gasoline produced from blackstrap molasses, an abundant and cheap by-product of the sugar industry, was claimed today by chemists working with a new process at Louisiana State university laboratories.

Dr. W. L. Owen, bacteriologist who worked with the Louisiana Department of Conservation on a demonstration explained that first the blackstrap, or cane juice residue exhausted of its sugar content, is processed into butyl alcohol and then, in the newly-discovered process, changed into a high octane gasoline.

Owen pointed out a possible immediate field for the process, developed by Dr. J. W. Jean of Pasadena, Calif.

"In Cuba where gasoline sells for 35 cents a gallon and in Jamaica where a large part of the blackstrap is wasted and where motor fuel brings 50 cents a gallon, there are tremendous opportunities for development," he said.

The sugar gasoline costs about 15 cents a gallon to produce, Owen said, three times the cost of the natural product, so that large scale production at present is economically impractical except in sugar countries having surplus blackstrap and high-priced imported motor fuels.

Safety Talk At Lincoln High

"Happy" Hunter, directing a traffic safety campaign in Sedalia this week, gave a talk this morning on "Safety" at the Lincoln high school, with grade school pupils attending.

Professor C. C. Hubbard presented Desk Sergeant George Maness, of police headquarters, who introduced the speaker.

Mr. Hunter pointed out dangers both in driving and walking and warned against carelessness on the part of either motorists, or pedestrians.

His talk was filled with incidents that personally came under his observation and he clearly pointed out how accident prevention could be a source of saving many lives.

Bomber Down By Own Flares

Near Miracle In Escape Of Injury To Crew Aboard

GREENLAND, N. H., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A big, twin-motored Canadian bombing plane, its bomb racks still half loaded, skidded into a near-miracle pancake landing in a hay field in the early morning darkness near here today, with all members of its 4-man crew escaping injury.

Its gas supply nearly exhausted, the plane landed by the light of its own flares, after a mission that apparently had carried it out over the Atlantic. It plowed a deep furrow for more than 200 feet through the 100-acre hay field before coming to rest, badly damaged but still intact.

Raymond J. Cash, a Portsmouth navy yard worker, whose house was only a few feet from the landing scene, told an Associated Press reporter that the plane still carried two big bombs in its left-hand racks.

"The right hand racks were empty," he reported.

The plane was approximately 150 miles southeast of the nearest spot on the Canadian border when it landed, and more than 200 miles from the New Brunswick line, where it adjoins northern Maine. In the darkness it had missed the Portsmouth airport by only a few miles, and was about the same distance from the huge Portsmouth navy yard, where two British submarines now are berthed for repairs.

The four young Canadian fliers would say little, except for a remark by one of them that "We were off the track."

(A few hours earlier the U. S. navy reported one of its own planes had been forced down in rough seas due east of the tip of Cape Cod during a confidential mission, but that both the plane and its personnel had been rescued.)

A heavy guard of soldiers from the army barracks near Portsmouth was thrown around the dull gray Canadian bomber long before daylight and soon after the sun rose the four fliers were taken to the Portsmouth naval hospital for a checkup.

Served With Coffee
Cash served the Canadians with coffee in her kitchen.

Cash said he was awakened by a heavy rumbling over his home shortly after 1:30 a. m. "I looked out and saw a flare floating down," he added, "but the plane landed even before the flare did. There was a heavy grinding as the plane skidded into the field not more than 300 feet from my bedroom window. There was no explosion.

"The next thing I knew there came a rap at the front door and there stood two Canadian fliers. They wanted to use my telephone.

"None of them was very talkative about their predicament, except that one said they had been 'circling around,' apparently over the Atlantic, and were almost out of gas. They were trying to get back to a Canadian field, either in New Brunswick or Nova Scotia.

"All of the boys seemed to be all right, with everything under control, but two of them were a bit shaky.

"I don't wonder at that. You could see two big bombs on the left-hand side of the under part of the plane. The right hand racks were empty. The pilot had landed so that his right wing was lower than his left.

"The propellers were twisted all out of shape and the engine cowlings and protruding parts were badly torn. They never will be able to fly her out of here, and she probably will have to be dismantled."

Returns From Vacation
Miss Rosemary Burrowes, of the Democrat's news staff, is home from a vacation visit enjoyed to the fullest in Texas and California. At Fort Worth she visited her brother, Mark W. Burrowes, of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and family, and from there proceeded to Beverly Hills, Calif., where she visited her sister, Mrs. Harry Reeder, Mr. Reeder, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Trader Fractures Ankle In A Fall

Mrs. George H. Trader, 1220 South Barrett avenue, fell while descending the stairs from the millinery department in the C. W. Flower Dry Goods Company Wednesday afternoon and suffered a fracture of her right ankle.

Mrs. Trader was taken to the Bothwell hospital where X-ray pictures were taken, after which she was removed to her home.

Her daughter, Miss Genevieve Stanley, a student at the University of Missouri at Columbia came to Sedalia this afternoon to spend a few hours with her mother.

Would Reduce Surplus Held

Proposed As One Way To Combat Inflation Trend

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Federal holdings of agricultural products which some economists say should be reduced to combat an inflationary rise in prices, are either at or close to record levels, according to market statistics today.

The government owns vast quantities of wheat and corn and smaller supplies of rye and barley. These were acquired under a plan to remove surplus grains from consumption in an effort to maintain prices.

In the dairy field, the government possesses butter, shell eggs, frozen eggs and cheese. Excepting butter, however, these are in government hands only temporarily—they will be shipped abroad under the lend-lease act.

Federal agencies also hold various canned fruits and vegetables. Purchases in this group are distributed primarily for relief purposes, although some are being lend-leased.

"Suggestions that the government release a part of these holdings were made earlier this week by the Brookings Institution, on economic research organization with headquarters in Washington.

"The most significant single step that might be taken in arresting the general rise of prices," the institution said, "would be to reduce somewhat the prices of agricultural products. This could readily be done by releasing to the market a portion of the crops now stored in government warehouses."

The government on August 31 had 173,639,000 bushels of wheat—Most of it 1940 grain, with some from 1939. This was the most wheat the government had ever owned.

Held Under Seal

In addition, the government has made loans on more than 200,000,000 bushels of 1941 wheat. This wheat under loan, like that owned directly, is locked in warehouses, terminals and on farms.

Trade sources estimate the total of almost 400,000,000 bushels of wheat either owned or under loan would be sufficient for about seven months' domestic consumption.

Both the government owned wheat and wheat under loan are off the market, although wheat under loan can return to the market in rising prices justify redemption of loans by farmers. In that case, farmers get their wheat back and sell it on the open market.

On August 31 the government also owned 173,515,000 bushels of corn and had 262,933,000 under loan. Last year's production was 2,449,200,000 bushels.

The government also owned 7,000 bushels of barley and held under loan 1,800,000. Rye owned amounted to 370,000 bushels and that held under loan to 2,817,000.

Other government holdings on August 31 included 782,000 pounds of butter, 619,000 cases of 30 dozen shell eggs, 19,212,000 pounds of frozen eggs and 5,291,000 pounds of cheese. In addition, the dairy products marketing administration, a government financed agency, held 1,533,000 pounds of butter.

Rain 'Washes Out' Bullesta Events

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Rain washed out all the special events at Moberly's Bullesta show today and made lakes of parking grounds near the fair, but farmers in the exhibit tents thought of help to the crops back home and didn't mind.

An 11-band parade slated for today was postponed until Saturday. Thousands witnessed last night's opening half-hour fireworks display.

Reports Watch Stolen

Joe Scholl, 315 East Third street, reported to the police today that his gold Illinois watch was stolen sometime Wednesday.

Nearly 100 Executed By Firing Squads

Two of Retired Brigadier Generals Among Victims

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—(AP)—General Alois Elias, premier of Bohemia-Moravia who was sentenced yesterday to death, was not immediately executed, authoritative sources indicated today, because he had availed himself of the right of asking clemency—which only Adolf Hitler can grant.

Germans pronounced an incipient Czech revolt "in hand" as 39 new sentences of death were handed down in the protectorate, according to the well-informed Diens Aus Deutschland news commentary, and a state of emergency was extended to additional districts.

Authoritative sources indicated that General Elias appealed for clemency after reportedly confessing that he had conspired with enemies of Germany.

The sentencing of Elias was said by Germans to have impressed the Czech people with the firmness of the German intention to employ the sternest measures to crush opposition within occupied territory.

Informed sources in Zagreb disclosed that two German aviators were shot in a dark street of that Croat capital Tuesday night, but whether they were killed was not stated. The government of Croatia has decreed death for 10 "Communists" for each such attack.

Denials of Rebellion

Germans pronounced inaccurate any impression that Bohemia is in a state of rebellion.

They said the death sentences were made on the basis of a police inquiry over an extended period.

Besides the 39 new death sentences, Dienst said another 228 persons had been arrested by the Gestapo on charges of preparation for high treason and economic sabotage. Some of these

Tells Kiwanians Of Prison Survey

"Findings in a 1939 Missouri Prison survey," were related by Kiwanian L. W. Satorius before the Sedalia Kiwanis club at its noon meeting in Bothwell hotel today. He took the place of Rev. O. J. Rumpf who was originally scheduled for the talk but could not be present.

The program was in charge of C. L. Hanley, chairman for October, who also introduced Chief of Police Anderson and "Happy" Hunter, Sedalia's safety director this week, who gave a short talk on the topic of safe and sane automobile driving.

The club extended birthday greetings in song to Club Members Loan Richardson, Sheriff C. R. Bothwell, Joe Rosenthal and T. H. Yount.

Kiwanians Bob Hollaway, Paul Schultz and Dr. C. W. Schulz of the Jefferson City club arrived to play a golf match with Sedalia Kiwanians a match that had been repeatedly postponed for six weeks.

When the out of town men reached here they discovered that because of the long rain, the match would again have to be postponed.

U. S. Air Corps Pursuit Planes Patrol at Iceland

BY DREW MIDDLETON
REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Sept. 22.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Trim U. S. Army Air Corps pursuit planes flown by pilots who boast theirs is the best squadron in the army are patrolling vital areas of Iceland in defense of the island.

The patrols fly upwards of 300 miles daily.

They sweep the skies, looking for signs of hostile aircraft and range along the coasts watching for any indications of an attempted landing.

The pilots all are about 20 to 25 years old and come from various parts of the United States—Texas, California, Connecticut, Illinois.

Their morale is akin to that of the RAF. The only thing that seems to get them down is the weather—the fierce gales that periodically sweep their airframe and ground all planes.

This is a picked squadron. Its pilots were selected from a group at Mitchell Field which, airmen said, generally was considered the best in the United States Army.

I watched four of the fighters take off in the teeth of a wind that seemed to blow straight from the pole.

This flight, like others, was practice, explained a lieutenant from Houston, Tex., a former

Bicyclists To Get Awards In Safety Week Program

Speeding forty-five miles per hour and cutting in and out of traffic is anything but safe, but it brought about the arrest of John Wehmeyer, 18, a farmer boy, by Officers John O'Brien and Clarence Nicholson Wednesday night and charged with careless driving. He failed to appear in police court this morning and his $10 cash bond was ordered forfeited by Magistrate C. W. Bente.

In spite of Safety Week, being conducted in Sedalia this week under the supervision of "Happy" Hunter, safety director, the police have received several reports on such drivers. And they are being "hunted down" and will be arrested and fined.

"I never gave it a thought," said Wehmeyer at police headquarters Wednesday night, "but I sure have learned by lesson," he concluded, while sitting in a chair waiting for friends to go out and get his cash bail to get him out of the police station.

Program at Park

Friday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock all boys and girls riding bicycles are to meet at Liberty park to participate in a safety program. Bicycle riders will ride through the park and then parade through the city, after which three valuable awards are to be made. To the best boy rider will be given a $15 complete sport outfit while to the girl will be awarded a $20 sport outfit, complete. The best colored boy or girl rider will be awarded a $9 camera.

It is expected more than 300 bicycle riders will make their appearance and participate in the movement. Boys and girls are being watched every day by Mr. Hunter and Officer George Maness and their actions up until Friday will have a bearing upon the award of the prizes.

This noon Mr. Hunter with Chief of Police H. Zone Anderson and Officer Maness were before the Sedalia Kiwanis club at which time Mr. Hunter gave a short safety talk.

Maurice Choulett, 1305 West Sixteenth street, a truck driver was awarded a $200 merchandise prize; Miss Elaine Chapman, 1118 Wilkerson, who "jay walked," but went back and corrected her error, was awarded a $250 merchandise prize.

War Goes On Viciously Both Land And Sea

By The Associated Press

A Greek uprising with machine guns, hand grenades and revolvers in Bulgarian-occupied Macedonia was reported today as German firing-squads and public hangings were credited with snuffing out the lives of 170 anti-Nazi conspirators in Hungary, Belgium and old Czechoslovakia.

The Germans asserted that an incipient Czech revolt in Bohemia-Moravia was "in hand" as 39 new death sentences were handed down in the Nazi protectorate.

However, two German aviators were reported shot in a dark street in Zagreb, the capital of the old Yugoslav state of Croatia. A recent government decree provides for the execution of ten "Communists" for each such attack.

Violent Fighting Goes On

Other major developments on the international scene included:

1. Russia's Red armies reported smashing an attempted break-through by great masses of German troops on the southern (Ukraine) front.

2. Advances reaching London said violent fighting raged at the bottleneck gateway to the Crimean peninsula, key to control of Black sea waters, with the Germans making extremely slow progress southward.

3. Adolf Hitler's high command asserted that Nazi warplanes were silencing Russian bunkers, field guns and tanks east of the Dnieper river, blasting a path for the advance of German troops pressing on toward the great Donets river industrial basin.

4. In the siege of Leningrad, the Russians said that three Nazi assaults had cost the invaders more than 1,200 killed and wounded without gain and that intense fighting at close range continued on the perimeter of Leningrad's outer defenses.

5. At sea, the Nazi high command reported the sinking of 683,400 tons of British shipping in September, crediting U-boats with the destruction of 452,000 tons.

Coincident with manifestations of bitter underground revolt spreading from Norway to the Balkans, Premier Mussolini heard official reports that the situation now was "satisfactory" in Italian-occupied parts of former Yugoslavia, where Fascist troops recently arrived to crush outbreaks by Serb guerrilla bands.

Il Duce sought to counter reports of seething animosity between Italians and their Nazi allies by giving the signal for pro-German demonstrations throughout Italy.

A German military band began a tour of Italian cities and a ballet corps of the Rome opera opened a tour of German cities at Vienna.

Brooklyn Wins To Even Victories In The World Series

On a two and two pitch, Reese lifted a high fly to Keller.

Owen hit a hot grounder to Gordon near second base and was thrown out.

Wyatt received a round of applause as he came to bat. He looked at one ball and then rolled out to Rizzuto.

No runs, no hits, no errors and none left.

YANKEES — Stumm lined to Camilli, who barely moved from his position.

After bunting foul once Rolfe grounded down the first base line and was out, Camilli unassisted.

Henrich picked out a two and two pitch and lined a double into the right field corner.

After striking wildly at the first pitch, Di Maggio walked on four straight balls.

Keller hit the first pitch into short right for a single scoring Henrich and sending Di Maggio to third.

Dickey grounded out to Herman.

One run, two hits, no errors and two left.

FOURTH INNING — Dodgers On the second pitch Walker smashed a grounder to Gordon and was thrown out.

Herman bounced to Rolfe and also was thrown out.

Gordon ran to his right and speared a hot smash by Reiser in time to throw him out as the crowd cheered.

No runs, no hits, no errors and none left.

YANKEES — Gordon took a strike and then drove a hard single into left. This started the Dodger bullpen into action.

Herman ran back into short right field and leaped into the air for a one-handed catch of Rizzuto's looper, Gordon scrambling back to first base.

Chandler grounded to Reese who threw to Herman forcing Gordon but the relay to first pulled Camilli off the bag and Chandler was safe.

Sturm dropped a Texas leaguer in short centerfield just in front of Reiser, but Chandler was thrown out at third, Reiser to Lavagetto, while trying to stretch an extra base.

No runs, two hits, no errors and one left.

FIFTH INNING — Dodgers Camilli drew a pass on five pitches, four of them very wide.

It was the first walk off Chandler and the first time Camilli had been on base in the series.

Medwick drove a double that bounced against the low left field wall and moved Camilli to third.

The crowd set up a roar and the Yankee fielders moved in closer to call encouragement to Chandler.

The Yankee bullpen went into action. Chandler threw two straight balls to Lavagetto, then got over a strike and Lavagetto fouled off a couple before finally drawing a walk to load the bases.

Reese knocked a hot grounder to Rizzuto who threw to Gordon forcing Lavagetto at second as Camilli scored and Medwick reached third, but Sturm dropped the ball throw at first and Reese was safe, but there was no error on the play.

Owen punched a single on the ground into left field scoring Medwick and sending Reese to third.

The crowd cheered and rang cowbells and the Yankee infield huddled around Chandler but returned to their positions as Wyatt came to the plate to the accompaniment of another burst of applause.

Wyatt rolled to Gordon for a double play, Gordon to Rizzuto to Sturm.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

YANKEES — Rolfe grounded out to Camilli unassisted.

Henrich picked at a change of pace and flied high to Reiser.

Di Maggio lifted a high fly which Walker caught on the run in right field.

No runs, no hits, no errors and none left.

SIXTH INNING — Dodgers Walker knocked a bouncer which Gordon fumbled momentarily and then made a bad throw to first, for an error.

Herman bounced a single between short and third and Walker raced to third.

Time was called and Chandler removed from the box. John Murphy, expert right handed relief pitcher of the Yanks was called to duty.

Reiser took a called strike, then swung viciously at another and after looking at one ball, struck out. With the count three and two, and the hit and run on, Camilli looped a single into right field scoring Walker and sending Herman to third.

Medwick also worked the count to three and two fouled off two pitches and then drove a grounder to Rizzuto who threw to Dickey in time to catch Herman. Camilli held up at second.

Di Maggio came running in fast to take Lavagetto's fly in short center.

One run, two hits, one error and two left.

YANKEES — Keller lifted a high fly to Walker.

With the count two and two, Dickey flied to Walker who took it on the run.

Gordon, who hadn't failed to get on base every time he came to bat in the series, worked the count to three and two and then drew another walk.

With the count two strikes and one ball, Rizzuto drove a sharp single along the ground into left

Efforts For A Location Of A Factory Go On

all downtown sites were declared unsatisfactory because of the lack of parking facilities and room for expansion.

A C. of C. official stated that the city would find and donate Sedalia-owned property for the building, if the funds for constructing the factory could be raised. It could be built for $20,000 and would cover an area about 60 by 200 feet.

"If Sedalia wants the factory, construction must be started at once," an attending contractor said. "The shoe company officials have explained that the factory must be in operation by the first of December and with favorable weather, it could be built in that time."

Exclude Use Of Steel

The price of $20,000 includes complete wiring and other utility installations. The plans for the proposed building have excluded the use of steel in construction, using wooden beams and tile and concrete. The deletion of steel would prevent any delay in securing building materials because of the defense priority.

The central location of Sedalia and its proximity to the home factory in St. Louis, with excellent transportation facilities, have proven advantageous to the city in its efforts to get the factory. Officials stated that the building need not be located directly by the railroad line.

The cooperation of the entire city of Sedalia, morally as well as financially, would secure the factory in the city, it was pointed out.

Considered Real Asset

"We've stood still, while other Missouri towns go ahead, long enough," one member declared. "Let's not hand this factory, a real asset to any town, to some other place. Let's show the company we want the factory by building a permanent place for it."

The structure would be built so that another factory could move into it if the first should decide to evacuate eventually, although the shoe company plans to expand the factory gradually if it is placed in Sedalia.

"It's the best proposition I've ever seen made the city since I've lived here," said one member of the audience, a well-known merchant. "Varied industry is the thing that will make Sedalia really expand. I'm for it!"

Members of the board of directors of the C. of C. will meet late this afternoon at the chamber office for the purpose of starting plans for the raising of money to start work on the factory.

Debate Over Neutrality Act

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The full resolutions committee of the American Bar Association debated today a resolution proposing that President Roosevelt "be free from restrictions of the so-called neutrality act and that he exercise all our national rights under treaties and international law."

The resolution was submitted by James W. Ryan, New York attorney, who earlier in the week lost a fight to have the international and comparative law section of the association adopt a resolution calling for outright repeal of the neutrality law.

Ryan contended German attacks on American shipping have served to void the neutrality statute and constituted an act of war.

Also before the committee was a resolution urging congress to enact legislation making it a federal offense for any person or organization to prevent individuals from working on national defense projects "either by violence or threat of violence."

Charles Ruzicka of Baltimore asked the committee to bring out a resolution to "unqualifiedly condemn" a presidential tenure of more than two consecutive four-year terms and to recommend to congress enactment of a constitutional amendment to limit tenure to eight successive years.

The Colorado bar association and the bar association of St. Louis were named winners of the ABA's two major merit awards.

Criticism On FDR Assertion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion that the Russian constitution provides for religious freedom continued to evoke sharp criticism today from clergymen and others.

In general, the critics retorted that while the Soviets' constitution might contain the words, they gave no trustworthy guarantee to religion.

"Printed constitutions are worthless anywhere unless supported by life," was the way Bishop Raymond J. Wade, head of the Methodist Detroit area, put it in a telegram to the chief executive. He declared the president's observations on Russian religious policies, delivered in a Tuesday press conference, were "obviously untrue" and "utterly misleading."

"Support for your emergency policies cannot be secured by ridiculous, unsupported propaganda," Bishop Wade added.

Mr. Roosevelt had advised reporters present at his conference ## to read Article 124 of the Russian constitution which he said provided for freedom of conscience and freedom of religion and propaganda against religion—essentially the same as Americans have although we do not put it the same way, he added.

Dr. John Haynes Holmes of New York, vice-chairman of the Keep America Out of War Congress, declared in a statement that "To compare the religious situation in Russia under the Soviet constitution with the religious situation in the United States is a ghastly joke."

Asked today to comment on the protests, Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said: "Many of the public reports went much further than the president's statement about two soap-box boys, which was certainly true."

After making his remark about the Soviet constitution, the president said that one man could speak from a soap box in this country for religion and another could take the same box the next day and preach against it.

Laval August 28 was followed by widespread sabotage and other acts of violence in German-occupied France, was condemned to death.

Colette was convicted at a secret trial yesterday.

The tri-power Moscow war needs conference closed last night, two days ahead of the scheduled conclusion, with an agreement that practically every Soviet supply request would be filled by the United States and Britain in return for Russian raw materials.

"In concluding its session," said a statement by W. Averell Harriman, chairman of the American delegation, "the conference states that it adheres to the resolution of the three governments to establish, after final annihilation of the Nazi tyranny, a peace that will enable all countries to live in security x x x free from fear or need."

A new Hunan province offensive was announced by the Japanese in their efforts to break eastern armies of China.

Japanese forces moved south across the Yellow and New Yellow rivers toward Chongshing, junction of the Lunglai and Peiping-Hankow railways, said Domei, Japanese news agency.

Chungking military dispatches reported the Japanese were in full retreat from Changsha, the provincial capital, with their three columns harassed by the Chinese. Japanese acknowledged the withdrawal, saying the purpose of that campaign had been accomplished.

Will Exchange Wounded

A BRITISH PORT, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Channel war which has raged back and forth since the Germans overran the low countries and France will stop this week-end, by temporary agreement, to permit the British and Germans to exchange 3,000 wounded prisoners.

Two hospital ships, each transporting 1,500 wounded, will travel between this port and some harbor across the channel, showing their lights—now a rarity in channel commerce. Each government has assured the safety of the other's ship.

The agreement provides for fighter planes, bombers and submarines to withdraw from the scene.

The two vessels will be concerned only with getting their wounded out and into port as quickly and as comfortably as possible.

The German prisoners will be embarked at a south coast British port and landed at a northern French port. The British prisoners will travel in the opposite direction.

Switzerland, through which at least one trainload of British wounded already has passed en route to the French port, has agreed to act as transport intermediary. All the British prisoners are coming from Germany.

Duncan Sandys, financial secretary of the war office, announced in a broadcast Monday that at British soldiers would be repatriated. He said the number included about 500 members of medical service and chaplains.

The returning British will be given hospital examination. Those found fit to travel will be permitted to go on home to their families, some of whom had given up hope of seeing them before the end of the war.

Relatives were advised not to come to the port. In their place the government and welfare agencies will function. Among the preparations is a cache of 1,152 bottles of beer.

Heavy Cost To Invaders

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP)—All-day efforts by massed German forces to crack the Russian line on the southern front have been repulsed in a violent battle, the Red Army reported today, while in the north west, around Leningrad, three Nazi assaults have cost the invaders more than 1,200 dead and wounded without gain.

The southern sector includes the Ukraine and the Crimean peninsula, but the exact scene of the newest attacks were not disclosed by Red Star, army newspaper. The onslaught lasted all day yesterday, but now is weakening, and the Germans are falling back to their old positions, leaving 250 dead men behind Red Star said.

In the north, the fighting apparently was another series of localized but intense combats at close range on the perimeter of Leningrad's outer defenses.

Repeated references to small arms indicated the nature of the conflicts.

later were released, however, it was said.

Reich's Protector Reinhard Heydrich decreed control of food supply and distribution in the protectorate through establishment of special economic supervision bureaus.

Their purpose, Dienst Aus Deutschland said, was to combat sabotage of foodstuffs.

In another part of German-occupied Europe, two Frenchmen, Henri Leclercq and Germain Lepoivre, were reported by the Brussels (Brussels) Zeitung to have been executed following their conviction by a German military court on charges of espionage.

The two generals, whose names were given as Dolecal and Svatek, were convicted of premeditated treason, of committing industrial sabotage and possessing forbidden firearms.

Further Trials Loom

Further trials were forecast as the Gestapo quizzed almost 300 other Czechs rounded up since last weekend under a state of emergency decreed to stamp out alleged hostile acts and sabotage.

Thus far, it was disclosed, only five of those brought to trial have been acquitted. There is no appeal from decisions of the German peoples' court except to Adolf Hitler himself.

Elias, who was arrested Sunday on orders of the new Reich's protector, Reinhard Heydrich, deputy chieftain of the German secret police, had held the post of premier since April, 1939, and was a key man in the Nazi-picked administration of Bohemia-Moravia.

All the premier's property was confiscated by the court which sentenced him to death.

Heydrich, whose investigation of conditions in the protectorate have brought sudden death to many Czechs, has been raised to the rank of general of the security police by Hitler, it was made known today.

He came here from Norway, where his presence coincided with the declaration of a state of civil siege by German occupation authorities.

German officials acknowledged that the loss of national independence probably was a bitter pill to the Czech people, but indicated the Czechs would have to make the best of things as they are.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good college slang to call fraternities "frats" or to speak of a "frat pin?"

2. Would it be rude for a college girl to break a date with a man and go out with one of his fraternity brothers that same evening?

3. Is it smart for a college girl to get a reputation for breaking dates?

4. Should a college student make a habit of using his roommate's things and wearing his roommate's clothes?

5. Is it good manners for a college student to get to classes after the professor has begun his lecture?

What would you do if—

You are unavoidably late to a lecture and realize that you have distracted the attention of the class—

(a) After the class is over, go up and apologize to your professor?

(b) If your professor does not call you down, feel that no apology is necessary?

Chryslers For 1942 Show 'Thunderbolt' Influence

Performance, appearance, economy and longevity all have been improved in the new Chrysler line. Important fundamental changes in design, plus a very large number of refinements have brought this about. The new models strongly show the influence of the "Thunderbolt," which Chrysler brought out last fall and which has been given the stamp of approval by some six and a half million persons who have seen it in dealers' showrooms and in parades, at football games, and elsewhere that large crowds gather.

The 1942 line comprises six models and a total of 31 body styles as follows:

Royal—121 1/2 inches wheelbase, 207 1/2 inches over all including bumpers. Body styles are: Three-passenger coupe, six-passenger sedan, six-passenger luxury brougham (2-door), six-passenger sedan, six-passenger sedan-limousine. The eight-passenger models are built on a chassis of 139 1/2 inches wheelbase, and 225 1/2 inches over all.

Windsor—Same wheelbase and over-all length as Royal, but with different upholstery, trim and equipment. Body styles are the same as those listed for the Royal, plus a six-passenger convertible club coupe.

Saratoga—127 1/2 inches wheelbase, 213 1/2 inches over all. Body styles are: three-passenger coupe, six-passenger club coupe, six-passenger luxury brougham (2-door), six-passenger sedan, six-passenger sedan-limousine.

New Yorker—Same wheelbase and over-all length as Saratoga, but with different upholstery, trim and equipment. Body styles are the same, plus a six-passenger convertible club coupe.

Crown Imperial—145 1/2 inches wheelbase, 231 1/2 inches over all. Body styles are: Six-passenger sedan, eight-passenger sedan, eight-passenger sedan-limousine. Windsor and Country (station wagon)—Same chassis as Royal, with Fluid Drive and Vacuumatic transmission standard. Body styles are six-passenger and nine-passenger, the latter having auxiliary seat holding three persons. These cars are available in green, red or tan leather upholstery with onyx plastics.

While the wheelbases of the various models have not been increased, the cars are wider and lower. There is more elbow room and the riding qualities have been considerably improved by the adoption of a softer seat cushion. Bodies have been improved in several important respects.

In lieu of white sidewall tires, all the line except the Royal is equipped with special white tire rings that produce a similar decorative effect. Mirror hub caps accentuate the smart appearance of the wheels.

Front fenders have been redesigned to give cleaner flowing surfaces between them and the hood, another "Thunderbolt" touch.

An important contribution to both beauty and utility is the new built-in running boards which are covered with heavily-treaded rubber, with fitted joints to produce smooth corners at the pillars. These running boards also hold the carpet in place and minimize the danger of stumbling or tripping. They also facilitate sweeping and cleaning. The lower portion of the body has been flared out to meet the outside edge of the running board. This design creates a smooth side surface and conceals the running board from the outside when doors are closed.

ices were held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home. Rev. H. A. Wood, of Ottumville and Rev. J. Allen Webb of California officiated. Burial was in the city cemetery.

Mrs. W. B. Craig visited over the week-end with her brother, S. T. Quick at Florissant.

Harmony PTA Elects Officers

The Harmony P. T. A. held its first meeting of the year with Charles Brunkhorst presiding. The following officers were elected: president, H. V. McLeister; vice president, R. F. Cramer; secretary, Walter Merk; treasurer, Mrs. McLeister; program leader, Mrs. Sibert; refreshment committee, May Carver.

A short program given by the

The doors have been redesigned to accomplish this but retain their generous width.

New bumpers, stronger and wider than ever before, have been designed to protect the car against a wider range of variously-mounted bumpers on other cars. The front bumper has an air scoop slot at the bottom, which supplements the supply of cool air delivered to the radiator core and at the same time enhances the appearance of the bumper.

Horsepower has been increased in both the six and eight-cylinder models. In the sixes (Royal and Windsor) it is now 120, the result of an increase in engine displacement from 241.5 cubic inches to 250.6 cubic inches. This has been accomplished by raising the bore from 3 1/2 inches to 3 3/4. The torque is increased from 190 to 200.

In the eight-cylinder models, the displacement of the engine remains the same, namely 323.5 cubic inches, but refinements in design bring the horsepower up to 140 at 3600 r.p.m. with a 6.8 to 1 compression ratio. Torque is notably increased. The intake manifold has been improved by streamlining and the new design increases the flow.

Exhaust back pressure has been reduced by larger exhaust pipes and improved mufflers and this contributes to the increased horsepower. A new type of oil filter of greater capacity has been adopted, adding to the effective life of the engine. The two compression piston rings have been redesigned in width to decrease wall friction.

Fluid Drive, Chrysler's most famous engineering development of recent years, will again be standard equipment on all eight and optional at slight extra cost on the sixes. Experience in the 1941 model line has shown that well over 90 per cent of owners specify it in their orders. The Fluid Drive unit, as used in the sixes, has been improved by means of changes in design and it should improve even more.

Vacumatic Transmission, which, used in connection with Fluid Drive virtually eliminates the necessity for gear shifting in all ordinary driving, is available in all models and now supercedes all other special forms. This transmission, which met with sensational success in 1941, contributes notably to the fine performance of the new models.

Closer tolerances and, in some cases, the adoption of improved materials also will contribute to the working qualities of the 1942 cars. This, incidentally, is a factor that assumes increasing importance, with some owners believing that they may be buying "for the duration," in view of governmentally regulated production.

The interior treatment of the line is marked by refinements and added conveniences. Chrysler's "Designed and Tailored to Taste" options in interior trim and upholstery, which proved so popular last year, are continued but with a great increase in the variety for selection and the addition of some entirely new upholstery materials. The choice of plastics on instrument panels and interior decorations has been considerably enlarged.

The instrument panels have been redesigned with a new radio grille, beneath which are grouped the controls for ignition, cigar lighter, fan, defroster, heater, throttle and lights on one panel. At either end of the instrument panel a new finish plate of plastic harmonizes or blends with the panel lines of the door garnish moldings. The cool radiator mechanism has been simplified and the reduced number of parts will facilitate operation and minimize the possibility of rattles.

Clifton City

Challis Louise Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Littlehorn, and family of Englewood, Colo., were guests for several days of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Carry, Herbert Cox, Jr., who is attending school in Kansas City visited over the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cox.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about a pint of urine a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. ## The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WITH THE THIRD ARMY—The Third Army is the largest and one of the best of the new citizen armies.

Made up of regulars, national guardsmen, inductees and reservists from every part of the country, it is a true cross section of the U. S. A. and a very inspiring one. It is patriotic, high-spirited, fit and eager to learn.

Throughout the big Louisiana war games the men of the Third Army, in heat and down-pour, over gruelling swamp and woodland, displayed a spirit of scrappy aggressiveness and tenacity that kept their enemy (Second Army) constantly on the defensive. From reconnaissance patrols to army corps, every unit of the Third was full of fight and determination to win.

Some of the feats of this new army, still a fledgling force learning the arts of war, were remarkable. For example:

In the first two days of the first phase of the maneuvers the 43rd, 37th and 38th divisions of national guardsmen marched over 50 miles and then went immediately into combat. This is an outstanding military performance and on a par with the best displayed by crack German infantry, which underwent training for seven years. It graphically demonstrates the superb physical fitness and spirit of these citizen soldiers.

Another example was the extraordinary feat of the 1st Cavalry Division fording the Sabine river at night with all its heavy motor and artillery equipment (400 vehicles) to pounce early in the morning on the unsuspecting west flank of the enemy and capture a large part of its gas supplies. To cross this treacherous stream the doughty division had to haul over 7-ton trucks and 155 caliber guns weighing 4,500 pounds.

The Third Army has all the elements of a great combat force in the finest American tradition. It isn't that yet, but it is well on the way. It still has a lot to learn, from buck private to commanding general.

But what distinguishes the men of the Third is their will to learn, their aggressiveness and pride as citizen soldiers.

NOTE: As is the case in the other citizen armies, chief deficiency of the Third Army is the lack of small unit (platoon and company) training. This is primarily due to inexperienced non-commissioned and company officers.

"The Old Man"

Principal credit for the excellence of the Third is due Lieut. General Walter Krueger, commander, and his crack staff of assistants.

Slender, of middle height and incisive, Krueger rose from the ranks and is a militant practitioner of the Stonewall Jackson dictum of "surprise, mystify and mislead the enemy." During the war games it was his troops who three times attempted the daring stroke of capturing the opposing commanding general and did succeed in "killing" his chief of staff.

Although very much a man of action and constantly on the go, Krueger also is a scholar. He speaks four languages, is an alert student of foreign military techniques and modern methods. When well over fifty he took a flying course at Brooks Field and travels almost entirely by plane. Krueger was long known in the army as one of its top organizers and executives; in the Louisiana war games he also demonstrated that he is a very able and forceful field general.

One of the best indications of his high caliber is the crack staff with which he has surrounded himself. It is without peer in the U. S. Army and has some of the best tactical brains of the army.

Chief among these younger aces is Colonel Dwight Eisenhower, chief of staff, who conceived and directed strategy that routed the Second Army. Eisenhower has a steel-trap mind plus unusual physical vigor. To him the military profession is a science and he began watching and studying the Germany army five years ago.

Eisenhower's deputy chief of staff is another crack army braintruster. He is Lieut. Col. Al Gruenther, leading bridge ace of the army and a shining star of the general staff until Krueger wangled him for his staff. Both Eisenhower and Gruenther are destined for bigger things in the army. They are men to watch, with Maj. Gen. R. C. Richardson, commander of Second Army's 8th Army Corps, and one of the most brilliant field generals of the service.

NOTE: Richardson, Eisenhower and Gruenther are of that rare military species, regular army officers who can think in terms of the civilian and the citizen soldier.

"Cajun" Soldier

The historic Arcadian ("Cajun") section of Louisiana in and about which the war games took place was a never-ending source of interest to the thousands of citizen soldiers.

The local people were extremely friendly and hospitable and were as intrigued with the soldiers as they were with them. Practically all doors were open and the two weeks of maneuvers were a delightful experience to both groups. The towns in which the two armies operated hotly took sides and celebrated or despaired as the tide of war fluctuated.

But locally the real heroes were the "Cajun" soldiers. They were the pride and glory of the "Cajun" country and stories abounded about them. One regaled with great relish throughout the Third Army, which prides itself on its military discipline, was about a young "Cajun" recruit who failed to salute his colonel. The colonel stopped him and said, "How long have you been in the army?"

"Two months," was the pleasant answer, "and you?"

Cock O' The Walk

WITH THE SECOND ARMY—Cock o' the walk of this man's army are the men of the armored forces. Husky, hard as the armor of their clanking machines, deeply tanned and dashing, they combine the swagger of the old cavalry, the breezy recklessness of the airmen, and the pile-driver forcefulness of the heavy artillery.

Wherever they appear, in camp, in maneuvers or in town, the armored men dominate the scene.

The way they stand, the way they walk, the way they carry themselves even when lounging, sets them off in a class by themselves. There has never been a morale problem among the armored men. Their morale is sky high and the model for the rest of the army.

They Don't Call Him "Yoo-Hoo"

Contrary to general belief, the men of the Second Army do not refer to General Ben Lear as "Yoo-hoo." It is either "the General" or "the old man."

This is significant because it shows the genuine esteem in which he is held by the men he commands.

A tall, rugged old cavalryman, the commander of the Second Army is a man of unusual physical vigor and decisiveness. He may make mistakes, but they are not those of inaction. Also, there is no guile or "soft-soap" about him.

He says what he thinks frankly and directly. Everyone under him knows where he stands. There is no politics in the Second Army. Lear also can see a joke on him. The hullabaloo over the "Yoo-hoo" incident startled him, but he talks about it genially and is very proud of the manly way the soldiers took their disciplining.

Lear's great passion is soldierliness, the essence of which he considers to be discipline. To him an army without sound discipline is a mob; an army that has one of the finest creations of man. As commander of the Second Army all his efforts are bent toward making it that kind of an army. His forte is definitely the training of troops.

NOTE: Lear rose from the ranks and one of his greatest prides is that he was once a crack first sergeant.

"Shavetails" and Generals
Greatest personnel problem of the new citizen army is second lieutenants and field generals.

Most of the former are too green to know what it is all about and the latter too old to learn. Being young, eager to learn and bright, most of the "shavetails" can be taught. Some of the generals will be replaced by younger and more adaptable officers.

NOTE: During a day of hot fighting in the maneuvers, one general commanding a division at the front calmly stretched out on two camp chairs in the shade near his tent and read a newspaper while enemy bombers made a dive attack on his headquarters. If they had been using live bombs the general and his headquarters would have been blasted to smithereens.

Looking Backward

• forty years ago •

Franklin E. Williams camp, Service Men of the Spanish-American War held a meeting last night at the Second Regiment band rooms. Plans were made to hold a smoker and dance in the near future. Will Cue was admitted to the membership.

Harvey F. Keens left this afternoon for his home town, Woodstock, Canada, for a visit. He will attend the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, New York, before returning home.

Carl A. Guenther has leased the Glass building, at present occupied by C.H. Bard, jeweler, to Peter Loomis, candy manufacturer who will move there from the opposite side of the street the latter part of the month. Mr. Bard today moved to the Beck building formerly occupied by Phil E. Ott.

The Central Business college football team game, scheduled with Kemper Military school next Saturday was postponed today because of the refusal of the Boonville squad to play. They asserted that the Sedalia team was too heavy. The Warrensburg Normal team has been scheduled for that date.

"Down In San Diego," and "Kansas Cyclone" Starts tomorrow at the Fox Theatre

Youths on parade in "Down In San Diego," new M-G-M drama, starting tomorrow at the Fox Theatre, with Ray MacDonald and Bonita Granville as the young sweethearts involved in a story of espionage laid against a background of the famed U. S. marine base. The supporting cast includes Dan Dailey, Jr., Henry O'Neill, Leo Gorcey and Stanley Clements. Co-Feature "Kansas Cyclone," with Don "Red" Barry and Lynn Merrick.

Two steps to amazing new pep... vitality... better looks!

Weak, run-down people suffering from sluggishness, underweight, poor digestion, lack of appetite now may restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize the body with rich, red blood.

If you are one of those unfortunates who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overtaxing worries... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... If your stomach digests refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you! S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength... to revive and stimulate these stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again
Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food... stomach digestive juices should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color... this makes for greater strength... color in your cheeks... resistance against disease attacks.

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

"Three favorite flavors" you want to get the FULL rich taste of all three! So don't risk ordinary short-cakes that may dull flavor. Be sure to use Spry. It's a flavor saver!"
1/4 cup Spry 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt 2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups sugar 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 whole eggs and 1 egg yolk
Blend Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition.
Sift baking powder with flour 3 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Put 3/4 of batter in two Sprycoated 8-inch layer pans. Add spices to remaining 1/4 of batter and put in another Sprycoated 8-inch layer pan. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

pepper chopped, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 cups consommé, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 garlic cloves chopped, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon freshly ground pepper, tarragon, rosemary, thyme, cayenne, cloves, parsley.
Saute the bacon in a large skillet. Add the onion, garlic, celery, and a sprig of tarragon, a pinch of rosemary and a pinch of thyme. Add the salt and pepper and a hefty dash of cayenne and a pinch of ground cloves. Let these ingredients cook together for four or five minutes; add the tomatoes, the consommé and the sugar. Allow this to simmer for about 40 minutes or until it is of a smooth and velvety consistency. Add the finely chopped green pepper and about three tablespoons of parsley and let this cook for about 5 minutes more.

Fudge Cake
One-half cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 eggs, 4 squares chocolate, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 cups milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Cream the butter and add sugar, beaten egg yolks, and melted chocolate. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, soda, and salt, and add alternately with milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, and add vanilla. Bake in layer pans in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Use fudge frosting.

Apple Sauce Cake
One-half cup fat, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup unsweetened fresh or canned apple sauce, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup chopped raisins, 2 1/4 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt.
Cream fat and sugar together, add apple sauce. Mix raisins with 1/4 cup of flour, sift the rest with the baking powder, spices, soda, and salt, and add dry ingredients to liquid mixture. Beat well, pour into a greased pan, and bake in a very moderate oven (300 to 325° F.) for about 1 hour. Cut in squares and serve warm with whipped cream.

By adding thiamin, a vitamin to water used on the growing plants, daffodils with blossoms as large as salad plates can be produced.

You're in for a treat when you serve
baked beans
the KARO way!

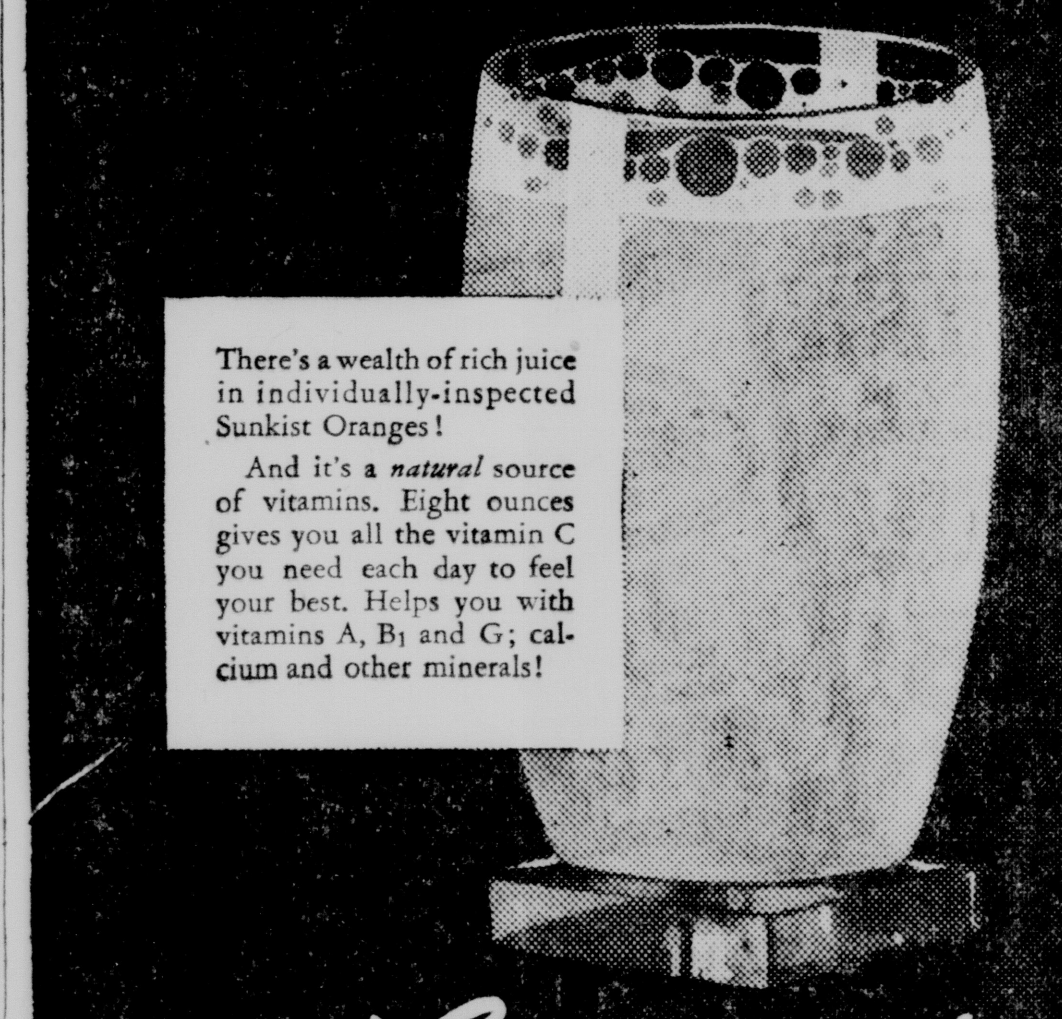

To add new flavor and zest to that old favorite dish—baked beans—try this simple recipe. Watch your family "perk up" and call for more!

BAKED BEANS, KARO STYLE
2 cans baked beans (12 oz. cans)
2 tsp. chopped onion
2 slices chopped cooked bacon
1/2 cup Karo (blue label)
6 tsp. strained canned tomato
Combine all ingredients, and mix thoroughly. Turn into a greased baking dish or casserole, and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 generous servings.

Remember—Karo Syrup adds food value and flavor to all cooked dishes—'cause Karo is rich in DEXTROSE, food-energy sugar.

GREATER FOOD VALUES

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

It's Indian summer in the food markets these days—those early fall days just "between seasons" when you find the choicest selections of the departing season, and the newest foods of the incoming season. The housewife's problems in menu-planning are made easier because of the infinite varieties of food—and her purse, because of the reasonable prices at this time of the year, won't be appreciably lightened whatever her selections may be.

Fish prices at this time of the year are especially attractive, with excellent supplies of croakers, porgies, butterfish, haddock and flounders on hand. Meat prices show fractional drops this week on pork chops, chuck steaks and pot roasts, and poultry prices, including fowl, broilers and fryers, are still reasonable.

Budget-wise shoppers will look toward apples, grapes, pears, grapefruit, peaches and pumpekins in the fruit departments, and for Hubbard squash, tomatoes, peppers, beans, beets, cabbage and celery in the vegetable stalls.

These suggested Sunday dinner menus have been prepared by Marion Rouse Budd, director of the A & P Kitchen, for three budget plans:

Low Cost Dinner
Veal Birds
Scalloped Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes and Celery
Cucumber and Lettuce Salad with French Dressing
Bread and Butter
Fresh Apple Turnovers
Tea or Coffee

Moderate Cost Dinner
Mixed Sauerkraut and
Tomato Juice
Pot Roast with Buttered Noodles
Broccoli with Butter Sauce
Mixed Green Salad
Bread and Butter
Baked Fresh Pears with
Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Honeydew Melon
Roast Long Island Duckling
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce
Bread and Butter
Orange and Romaine Salad
Chocolate Whipped Cream Roll
Tea or Coffee

Potted Chicken With Garden Vegetables

How to make Pillsbury's Date Fluffs

You'll bake them by the dozen!

Easy Pillsbury Recipe:

Tender, Fluffy Biscuit Base—1. Sift and measure 2 c. Pillsbury's Best Flour. (Enriched Pillsbury's Best is not different in flavor or baking quality from the Pillsbury's Best that's earned the preference of millions of American housewives. The two added B vitamins and iron simply supply vital elements your family needs every day.) 2. Add 5 tps. baking powder (or 2 tps. double-acting), 1/2 tsp. salt and 2 tps. sugar; sift twice. 3. Cut in 1/4 c. shortening until mixture is like coarse crumbs. 4. Add 1/2 c. milk; mix until flour is dampened. 5. Knead lightly for a few seconds. 6. Roll out to 1/2 inch thickness. 7. Cut into 2-inch strips. 8. Brush each with melted butter. Stack dough in 2 sets of 4 layers each with this filling between strips.

Succulent Date Filling—1. Combine 1 c. sliced dates, 1/2 c. water, 1 tsp. grated orange rind, and 1/4 tsp. cinnamon. Cook until thick enough to spread. 2. Remove from heat; add 1/2 c. chopped nut meats. 3. Chill thoroughly; spread on biscuit base. 4. Place in greased muffin pans, cut side up. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) about 20 min. 5. Remove from oven. 6. Let cool. 7. Brush tops with melted butter. 8. Serve warm to the table! One bite—you'll find the combination of melt-in-the-mouth biscuit and chewy, date-meat filling!

Guffey Lashes Out At Chain Newspapers

Singles Out Ray Howard For The Brunt Of Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Declaring that "chain newspaper publishing has become a menace to democratic institutions," Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) told the Senate today that "The time has come when legislation should be introduced and considered looking to the curtailment of the chain newspaper industry."

Guffey, consistent administration supporter, said Roy Howard, head of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, had refused President Roosevelt's request that he seek to improve United States relations with South America.

"That's the kind of patriot this particular chain newspaper publisher reveals himself to be," Guffey continued in a prepared address. "The only man called by the president, the commander-in-chief of our forces, to serve during this crisis who refused to serve."

Guffey said the Pittsburgh press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, had denounced him as a tax evader during his last campaign because he owed the treasury about $4,000 in taxes.

Charge of Evasion
He said that Howard and Robert P. Scripps had formed personal holding corporations and thus had "evaded and avoided payment of income taxes."

In 1934, he said, "the Roy W. Howard company enjoyed an income of $501,904, which income represented Howard's salary and profits from his publishing interests. Yet on this huge income, this super-patriot, this protector of the people from tax evaders, paid not one cent in taxes. Had he not used the holding company subterfuge he would have had to pay $167,000. x x x likewise did Robert P. Scripps company provide a loophole for the gentleman bearing that name. Its income was $173,599.63, upon which it paid no tax whatsoever."

Also in 1934, Guffey declared, the E. W. Scripps company had a net income of $1,705,405 "upon which he paid the tremendous tax of $67,047."

Guffey said that taxing statutes now had "outlawed" the $4,000 claim the treasury had against him and that he was advised the Internal Revenue Bureau could not accept payment of the levy now. "Nevertheless," he added, "a way will be found by me to pay into the treasury of the United States the amount of the tax. x x x"

"I doubt that Roy Howard, with his record what it is, will let his conscience bother him to the extent of paying the $167,000 tax which he, by legal subterfuge, evaded. I challenge him to pay this $167,000 now—at a time when the country is making such huge expenditures for defense purposes."

On August 20, 1940, at Hyde Park, President Roosevelt disclosed that several months before he had asked Howard to investigate fifth column activities in Latin America and that Howard had declined.

The president said he had asked Howard to go to South America by plane, on a 40-day trip, meet editors and government officials he knew when he represented the United Press there, and learn their personal opinions on fifth column activities.

Howard was in the far east at the time, but G. B. Parker, editor-in-chief of the newspapers, issued a statement in Washington in which he quoted from a letter Howard wrote the president on June 5, 1940, declaring it had been 20 years since he had spent any time in South America and that he had lost contact with the politics and personalities of the continent.

"No personal considerations ever have or ever will interfere with my rendering to you, or anyone in your position, any public service for which I am qualified," Howard's letter read in part.

Clubs Couple Then Ends Life

LAKELAND, Ga., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Former Governor and Mrs. E. D. Rivers were clubbed on the head with a pistol butt at their home last night by an assailant, who, finally beaten off and foiled in what police said appeared to be a bizarre kidnap plot, killed himself at a tourist camp.

Three shots were fired, Mrs. Rivers said, in a tense struggle before she and her 45-year-old husband drove the intruder from their living room. Neither was hit by bullets but she received an ugly gash over the eye and the former state executive was so badly bruised and gashed that physicians gave him a sedative.

Neighbors trailed the attacker toward a roadside camp in the outskirts of nearby Valdosta, Ga. Police Capt. J. L. Murphy of Valdosta reported that when he and two other officers confronted the man there, he turned on a light in his trailer and fired a .32 calibre pistol bullet into his mouth.

Murphy said the slight, 130 to 135 pound man, about 35 years old, carried a card and a 1932 Pennsylvania drivers' license bearing the name of Horace Waters Bille and giving a Pittsburgh, Pa., address. He added that he was convinced that this name was correct.

Captain Murphy said a sheet of paper, printed on both sides in pencil and found in the trailer, appeared to be a rough draft of a would-be kidnap note.

Give Study To Patrol Ruling

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell said today he had not yet studied the attorney general's opinion restricting powers of the state highway patrol and that he would take no action until he had done so.

The governor returned today from the American Bar Association convention in Indianapolis.

Attorney General Roy McKittick held this week that all functions of the patrol were illegal except for its right to police state highways.

State Sen. Frank P. Briggs (D) Macon, president pro tem of the 61st General Assembly, notified Donnell today he would draft a bill to convert the patrol into a state police force should Donnell decide upon a special session of the legislature.

Donnell said, however, he had not given thought to calling the legislature into special session over the patrol situation.

Transfer Be Made Of Ordnance Company

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Transfer of the 84th ordnance company from the Erie proving ground, Ohio, to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., in a permanent change of station was authorized today by the war department.

The department said the order for the transfer would be issued by the commanding general of the 7th Corps Area with headquarters at Omaha, Neb., when adequate quarters were available at Fort Leonard Wood.

Deny Quashing Of An Indictment

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Federal District Judge Charles

G. Briggie today denied a motion to quash an indictment charging the Illinois Iowa Power company, the Missouri Power and Light company and three executives with contributing at least $77,000 to Illinois political campaigns from secret slush funds.

Judge Briggie made no comment in overruling demurrers to the indictment and ordering that the indictment be brought to trial.

'All-Out' Tax On Ability To Pay

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today the new tax law, which just went into effect yesterday—was only a "good start," and that "the tax bill next year will have to be a genuinely all-out bill, a genuine levy upon all in accordance with their ability to pay."

With the help of the new taxes recently enacted, the secretary said in an address before the American Bankers' Association, "Our tax structure will yield about $14,000,000,000 in revenue, but in my opinion it still contains many inequalities and many omissions which will have to be corrected next year."

The treasury head said that taxation was one of the indispensable methods of preventing inflation and urged the bankers in their day-to-day contacts with customers to explain the need of greater government taxation and individual saving.

He added that the "strongest efforts" to promote savings through the purchase of defense savings bonds and stamps and thereby strike a blow against inflation "must now be made in our great industrial centers."

He described as a shortcoming of the savings campaign to date the fact that it "has only begun to reach workers' payrolls." Besides getting people to save a regular part of their income, the secretary also said the treasury "is most anxious to divert into defense savings bonds the kind of spending produced by pay increases and bonuses and by increased dividend payments."

"I should like," he added, "to offer as a suggestion, for example, that every Christmas bonus in the United States be paid in defense savings bonds or stamps this year."

He also urged immediate passage of the price control legislation now pending in Congress.

Services Friday Night At The Temple Beth El

Dr. Harry S. May, rabbi of Temple Beth El, will have as his sermon topic, "Labor Relations—Old, Yet New," at services Friday evening at 8 p.m.

The speaker will deal with the Jewish attitude towards labor as it is coming to us through our literature (Bible, Talmud & Medieval writings). The question of wages, child labor, protection of women-labor, and the entire social legislation will be discussed—and prove at the same time, that our present labor conditions and accomplishments are mostly influenced by the democratic spirit of the Jewish sages.

Homes Needed For Families Of Defense Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The division of defense housing announced today that President Roosevelt had determined that a need existed for 1,400 homes for families of industrial defense workers and enlisted personnel in five localities.

No estimate was made of the probable cost of the houses nor was any announcement made of when they would be constructed. The approved locations included Texarkana, Texas-Ark., 400 units.

Executives Of Hotels Work

Run Elevators And Do Tasks In Pittsburgh Strike

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Dignified hotel executives operated elevators and cooked meals today as the steel city's eight principal hotels strove to accommodate 3,500 guests bewildered and inconvenienced by a strike.

The walkout of 2,400 service employees of the hostelrys Tuesday midnight left their managers and white collar workers with the necessity of performing menial tasks themselves. Richard Nash, manager of Webster Hall hotel, said he "fried the steaks himself" last night for a group of assistants with whose help the hotel is "trying to get by."

Patrons chuckled over the way some managers ran elevators, shooting the cages up quickly and often overshooting the mark. "Their finding the floor level is like a drunk trying to find a keyhole," said one guest.

Carry Own Luggage
Registrations were being refused and guests had to shift for themselves, such as by carrying their own luggage and making up beds. Dining rooms, barber shops and bars in the hotels were closed.

Missing the usually bustling scene of travelers going to and fro in the lobby, Assistant Manager R. J. Hemmings of the Hotel Pittsburgh said:

"It's kind of lonesome around here. In fact, it's barren."

Managements counted themselves fortunate in having no large conventions scheduled this week, but a four-day conclave of the Pennsylvania Medical Society with an attendance of 2,200 is booked for the 1,600-room William Penn hotel starting Monday.

A spokesman said nervously the hotel's "plans are unchanged" and indicated its main hope was that the strike would end before the date, adding "It is not a pleasant situation."

Smaller hotels, unaffected by the strike, were doing a landslide business. The strike was called by the AFL hotel and restaurant employees international alliance, seeking wage increases of 15 to 20 per cent for service employees whose scale had ranged from $20 a month (bellhops) to $175 a month (chief cook and chief baker.)

Says Warrants Given To Pryor

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A former bookkeeper of the Boyle Pryor Construction Co., testified today that John J. Pryor, once-favored contractor of the Pendergast organization received city funds for water leak hunting by the Rathford Engineering company.

As a state witness in Pryor's trial on a charge of receiving the city funds under false pretenses, the bookkeeper, Miss Marguerite J. Murphy, related that John J. Rathford delivered her two checks a month, one for $1,500 and the other for $3,500.

Rathford, she said, was frequently instructed to deposit the $1,500 check to his firm's name but the $3,500 check almost always remained at the construction company.

Sometimes, Miss Murphy related, she cashed the $3,500 treasury warrants herself and then gave the money to "Mr. Boyle or Mr. Pryor." She testified she did not know what happened afterwards to the money or the warrants she did not cash.

Miss Murphy, under questioning by First Assistant Prosecutor John V. Hill, said that after William D. Boyle's death by lightning in June, 1938, the warrants were given to Pryor until November, 1938.

The charge against Pryor, contained in a county grand jury indictment in 1939, followed an investigation into the workings of the company hired to find water leaks in the municipal system.

Gene Boysen Takes Aviation Training

Gene Boysen, of Sedalia, is one of the Midland college men at Fremont, Neb., beginning to build their wings—through the college's civil aeronautics authority flight program.

Boysen has begun actual flight training as well as ground school instruction. The latter emphasizes such things as navigation, airplane and motor construction and similar phases of flying other than the actual piloting.

The Midland program has trained five units including 52 persons during the past year and a half. Boysen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Boysen, Sedalia. He is a senior at Midland.

The commissioner of agriculture and Mrs. John W. Ellis were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Baker Wednesday and Wednesday night. They were en route from St. Louis where they had attended the National Horse Show to Muskogee, Okla., where they will attend the Oklahoma State Fair.

Five Years In Prison Given Wife Beater

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Alfred Buttarazzi, 37, will spend one to five years in a state prison for beating his wife because she rode a bus downtown (15 cent fare) instead of walking. He was sentenced yesterday following conviction for second degree assault.

Suit For Maintenance

A suit for separate maintenance has been filed in circuit court by Mary Margaret Sugg through her next friend C. R. Bothwell against Thomas M. Sugg. The plaintiff asks for maintenance for herself and their two minor children.

William F. Brown is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Petitions A Divorce

A divorce alleging general indignities was filed in circuit court today by Green I. Wright from Nora Wright. The petition states the couple was married on March 21, 1929 and separated on December 9, 1933.

W. W. Blain is attorney for the plaintiff.

Damage Suit To Trial
A damage suit is being tried in the circuit court today in the case of John W. Adams vs. N. B. Stockton et al before Judge Dimmitt Hoffman. A jury is hearing the evidence.

The Central Missouri Farmer

Fall Membership Drive For Farm Bureau Has Started

Campaign Opened Yesterday After Enthusiastic Plans Made Tuesday Night

Eighty members of the Pettis county farm bureau who gathered from all parts of the county on Tuesday night, dined and sang together and made enthusiastic plans for a fall membership campaign.

The drive will be conducted throughout the entire county, from October 1 to October 10. To start the drive off, the farm bureau families present renewed their membership while at the meeting.

Ralph Dow, president of the Pettis county farm bureau, presided.

Needs Have Increased

V. Vaniman, organization director of the American Farm Bureau Federation for the midwest region, and Frank Stonner of the state farm bureau staff, met with the group. Vaniman spoke of the accomplishments of the American Farm Bureau Federation in obtaining its farmer members benefits. He emphasized the continued need of a strong farm organization and stated that this need would be more pressing than ever before when hard times come, following this war period.

Stonner gave those assembled valuable suggestions in regard to the methods to use in conducting the campaign. A round table discussion followed and details were determined in regard to the work to be done by farmer representatives from each township.

J. A. DeJarnett, chairman of the county membership campaign, selected his township leaders and had made personal contacts with them prior to the meeting Tuesday night. Most of these leaders were in attendance.

Township Representatives

The representatives who will solicit membership in their respective townships, are as follows:

Blackwater—C. J. Wheeler, Elbert Rissler.

Houstonia—Norman Gibson, J. W. Russler.

Hughesville—William Brandhorst, Stevens McClure, Walter Smith.

Longwood—Van Jones, James A. Harvey, Bruce Claycomb, Roy E. Taylor.

Heath's Creek—Thomas J. Raines, E. M. Copeland.

Bowling Green—John Sneed, A. A. Wherley.

Cedar—R. W. Dow, W. F. Schiebel.

Dresden—George Fichter, Fritz Hintz, W. A. Enterline.

La Monte—Ernest Jones, M. C. Scott.

Sedalia—George Sneed, W. P. Hurley, Edward Heffernan.

Elk Fork—Guy Mahin, Olin Ragar.

Prairie—P. S. Read, Raymond Neltzer.

Smithton—William J. Lamm, Olen Monsees, Raymond Kahrs, Millard Wagenknecht.

Lake Creek—Frank B. Van Dyke.

Flat Creek—Isaac Snow, Milton Smith, Asa Robertson.

Washington—W. E. Ragar, Fred Brockman, C. D. Hunt.

Green Ridge—E. H. Boltz, Carl Johnson, William G. Ruffin, Earl Hinken.

White—G. D. Ferguson, Milton Mathews.

Special entertainment numbers for the evening were two vocal solos by M. C. Scott of La Monte, accompanied by Miss Helen Highleyman of Sedalia and an oration, "The Hand 'H' In Farm Bureau," by Dorothy Helen White, of the Sunnyside community 4-H club.

This oration was the one on which she won the state farm bureau public speaking contest award for 4-H girls.

Farm-Home Week Plans Are Outlined

Pettis Farmers Will Carry Their Counsel To Panels

Pettis county farm leaders, busy for months past with home and defense activities, will carry their counsel and influence to Columbia, October 28, 29, and 30 for the annual Farm and Home Week program at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. This state-wide meeting will emphasize the many ways in which Missouri can improve and maintain its land resources and at the same time meet the need for increased production in the home and defense program.

The delegation from this county may be even larger than that of last year, says County Agent J. U. Morris when 86 persons from Pettis county attended.

300 To Participate

Almost 300 persons will take part in the varied sessions which include timely lectures and demonstrations, informal discussions, musical and dramatic entertainment and recreational activities. These sessions are planned for farm women as well as men—in fact, of last year's attendance of 2,947 persons, 1,723 were women.

Six sectional programs of general interest are offered each morning of the session from 9 to 12 o'clock. These include home economics, general farming, dairy farming, livestock farming, poultry farming, and fruit farming.

The general sessions, heretofore held at 11 o'clock in the morning, will this year be held at 1-15 in the afternoon of each day. These are sessions in which all persons attending Farm and Home Week unite to hear vital, timely subjects of national interest discussed.

Session Speakers

The speakers for the general sessions this year are: Congressman Clarence Cannon of Missouri; Chester C. Davis, chairman of the national advisory council for defense and president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis; and Mrs. Lola Clark Pearson, woman editor for the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. These speakers will give special attention to the present farm situation, the influence of the preparedness program on agriculture, and importance of maintaining high standards in family and community cooperation.

Following these general sessions, departmental programs of specialized interest will occupy the remainder of each afternoon. These will include agricultural association meetings, with at least twelve such groups holding annual meetings during Farm and Home Week.

In addition to the University buildings, demonstration herds and flocks, and experimental

Annual Missouri Horse And Mule Breeders Picnic To Be October 8

Program, Percheron Judging Contest At Benton County Farm

On October 8 the annual picnic of the Missouri Horse and Mule Breeders association will be held at the farm of H. A. and H. C. Rotermund, adjoining the town of Lincoln, in Benton county. The program will start at 10:30 a. m., with President Fred C. Schell, Liberty, presiding. Schell has recently successfully exhibited his Percherons at several of the leading fairs of America and will discuss the situation as he observed it in various sections.

A judging contest, including three classes of Percherons, will follow. Supervisors of the judging contest are O. V. Singleton, Warsaw and J. U. Morris, of Sedalia, both county agents.

Adults as well as juniors are eligible to the contest.

A basket dinner will be the order of the day at noon. Everybody will bring dinner and all eat together. Coffee and ice water will be available on the grounds. In the afternoon Scott Higgins of Houstonia, who produces and uses horse and mules for work stock, will discuss his method of operation.

Following this, Earl McCain, a Cass county youngster, will discuss the highlights of his 4-H club horse project. The secretary of the National Percheron Horse association, Ellis McFarland, will be on hand to discuss draft horse affairs in America. McFarland's position puts him in a position of peculiar advantage to secure information as to the way the wind is blowing in the horse and mule business.

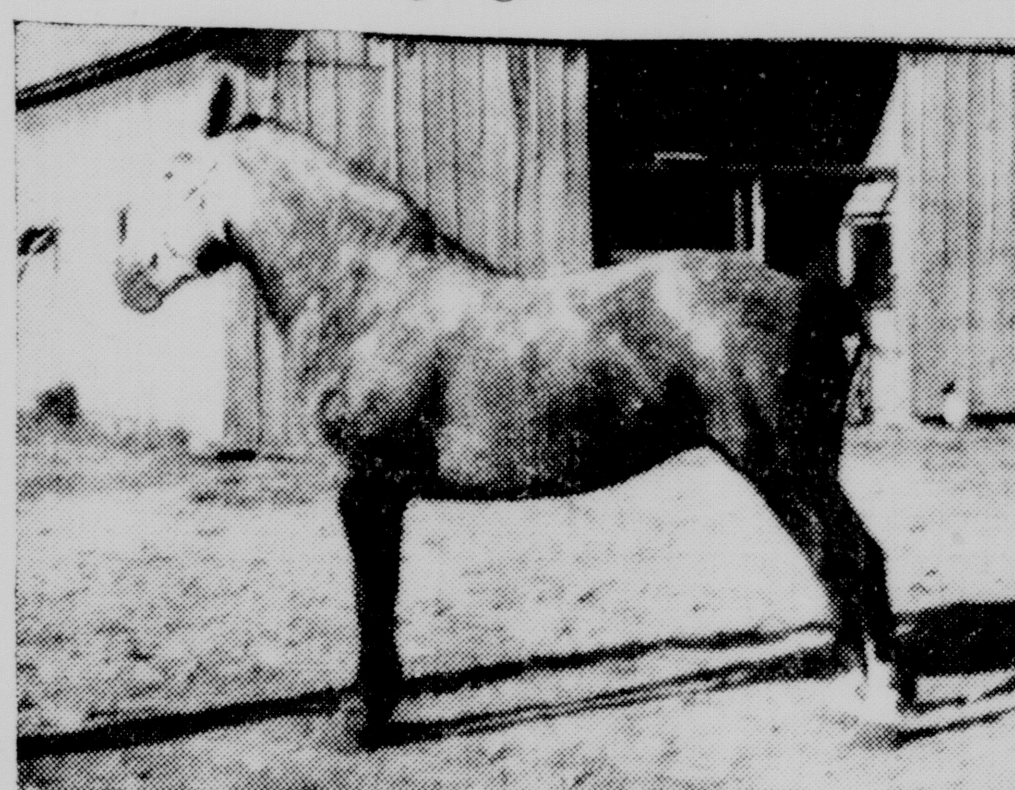

E. A. Trowbridge of the Agricultural college, will discuss some of the general problems involved in securing power for the farm.

Various hitchers of 4, 5 and 6 horses will be demonstrated by T. A. Ewing with the horses owned by Rotermund. A field adjacent to the home will be available for using the various hitchers on plows and other farm implements. Evidence to date indicates fine attendance and those interested in horses and mules will find much of value and interest in the program.

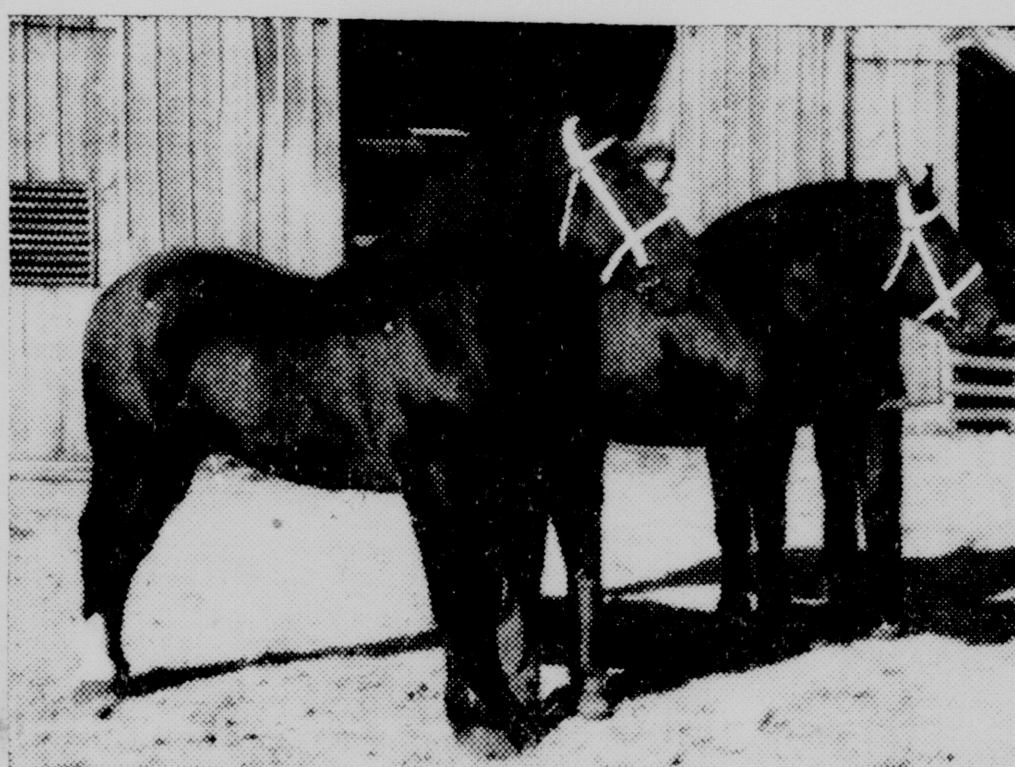

Fields which will be available for inspection, at least three special exhibits will be arranged for Farm and Home Week. These are the horticulture exhibit, the beekeeping exhibit, and the home economics exhibit.

The night programs offer a widely diversified feature of entertainment numbers selected from counties over the state. These will include plays and music numbers consisting of women's choruses, male quartets, and instrumental numbers.

Horses In Judging Contest

Caroline, No. 233329, shown above, and Carvotto, No. 233328 and Sensation, No. 234344, pictured together below, are registered Percherons that will be some of the horses used in the judging contest at the Missouri Horse and Mule Breeders' association meeting on Wednesday, October 8, on the H. A. and H. C. Rotermund farm at Lincoln.

Special Talks Planned For Farm Women At Big Meeting

Missouri farm women, who gather at Farm and Home Week, October 28, 29 and 30, at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, will find three days filled with discussions of the problems that closely affect the family in these times of national defense.

Featured at the general meeting Tuesday afternoon, when all Farm and Home Week visitors are brought together in one large audience, will be Mrs. Lola Clark Pearson, woman editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. Mr. Pearson, widely known throughout the southwest, will speak on the "Value of Family Cooperation."

National Speaker

Miss Grace Frysinger of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will speak on "The Importance of Farm Women In Establishing World Peace."

A part of the program will be devoted to nutrition and health. Mrs. Charles Schutter, secretary of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, will discuss nutrition in relation to national defense. There will be a panel discussion in which representatives of various state and national agencies will tell what Missouri is doing to promote better nutrition. Reports will be made also on recent surveys on health and medical care in farm families.

An interesting and practical feature will be a panel discussion on the organization of the homemaker's time and her daily tasks, in which the following well known Missouri farm women will take part: Mrs. W. R. Heckler, Dalton; Mrs. A. D. Carter, Triplett and Mrs. George Thiel, Buncheon.

Several Home Topics

Other features of special interest to women will include a series of talks on home building, remodeling and furnishing. Demonstrations on home baking will be given by Miss Clara Gebhart, of the Wheat Farm Institute.

During Wednesday forenoon the Missouri State Homemakers' association will hold its annual meeting, at which a great many of the women's extension clubs of the state will be represented. These clubs, now numbering some 2,300, have more than 40,000 members.

Exhibits on display throughout Farm and Home Week, will include: Unit arrangements for living rooms, color exhibits, clothing buying, good way to buy foods, nutrition for defense and this is the way our children go to school.

Schedules For Mattress Centers

The Houstonia mattress center will reopen on Monday, October 6, while Smithton will be started tomorrow, Friday, October 3. Bois d'Arc will be started on Monday, October 6 and La Monte on Tuesday, October 7. This has been made possible by the arrival yesterday of the last shipment of ticks for Pettis county from the NYA sewing room in Marshall.

The Beaman center finished last Thursday. This brought the total of mattresses made to 252, which means the county is slightly more than half through making mattresses from the carload of surplus cotton. There are 228 mattresses yet to make.

It is expected that the project will be completed by the end of the month.

Hog Feeders Interested In Fall Litters

Producers Are Doing Their Part To Provide Food

Hog producers in Pettis county are especially interested right now in their fall litters. Doing their part in the food for defense effort and obtaining satisfactory returns for the feed fed the sows and pigs is of first concern.

Rations of the brood sows will directly affect the amount of milk that a sow gives during the lactation period. On this in turn depends the weight of pigs at weaning time, which is especially important in fall litters that need some size by the time winter weather sets in.

Examples Given

The following are examples of good combinations for brood sow rations if liberally fed: Corn, 8 parts; shorts, 4 parts; bran, 1 part; tankage, 1 part; or corn 6 parts supplemented with 1 part of a mixture of tankage 50 per cent, either linseed oil meal or soybean oil meal 25 per cent, and if not on good pasture, alfalfa leaf meal 25 per cent. Good leafy alfalfa hay fed in a rack is as effective and cheaper than the alfalfa leaf meal.

When pigs are about a month old they will be able to use more feed than can be obtained from the sow. A creep may be made for them so they can eat separately and as soon as they begin to eat well a slop made of milk, some shorts, a little bran and some linseed oil meal or tankage fed along with corn will make a ration which, with proper exercise, should provide most rapid growth on these small pigs.

Following weaning, fall pigs need some shorts along with their corn and protein mixture until they reach 50 pounds. Then a good protein supplement consists of one-half tankage and one-half of either linseed or soybean oil meal plus alfalfa meal when the pigs are in dry lot. On green pasture or with green alfalfa hay fed in racks no alfalfa leaf meal is needed. Replacing more than one-half of the tankage with a vegetable protein reduces rate of gain and increases feed requirements.

Clean Practices

Early fall pigs farrowed on clean ground, kept free of worms and fed properly will be large enough when cold weather comes to continue gaining instead of barely holding their own. A method hog feeders have found practical in providing winter quarters is to floor the sleeping quarters with baled straw placed on edge and tightly clamped together by the use of poles.

Hog raisers who follow the sanitation system put the bales together and pull their movable houses upon the bales and keep their hogs on clean ground instead of taking them into the cold lots when winter comes. Such a floor requires no cleaning until spring and keeps the pigs dryer and warmer than is possible any other way.

An abundant supply of clean water for the pigs at all times is the cheapest feed. Keeping pigs free from lice and mange is another essential. Details on any of these phases of hog production may be obtained at the county extension office.

Fruit Farming To Be Section At F-H Week

Discussions On Meeting Defense Needs Scheduled

Ways in which Missouri farmers can produce fruit and vegetables to meeting the needs of the home and defense program, will be emphasized in the fruit farming section of Farm and Home Week at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, October 28 to 30. Each of the three daily programs of this general section will stress the importance of the food for home and defense campaign.

The subjects for the first day will include fruit farming for home and defense, strawberry culture for the home garden, tree fruits and their care for the home orchard, the most important insects of the home fruit planting, grapes for the home grounds and growing brambles for home use.

For the second day, special emphasis will be given to growing vegetables and truck crops, with subjects as follows: How to make the garden supply food for every day in the year, nutritional value of vegetables, vegetable harvesting and storing problems for home use, solving some of the problems of the home vegetable garden.

The program for the third day is especially designed to give farm women practical and economical suggestions for making the farm home grounds attractive and for producing flowers at home.

Following the general afternoon sessions, when all Farm and Home Week visitors unite to hear well known speakers on subjects of timely and vital interest, the specialized programs on fruit and vegetable growing will be continued.

NO HELP FOR JUDY

CHAPTER XXI

JUDY walked to the stand, limping a little because one foot had a high-heeled slipper and the other foot hit bottom with every step.

"Miss Allen?" the voice of the law asked, carefully noting the disheveled copper curls, the shadows under the purple eyes.

"Yes, Your Honor."

"Are you willing to state that the stories and photographs of you in these morning papers are, without doubt, yourself?"

The lost dimples played around Judy's mouth for a second.

"I didn't come down any too gracefully, did I?" she asked. "In this pose even my skirts are ballooning."

She heard laughter. The judge rapped for silence.

Judy looked up in surprise. "I'm sorry. You see, my father is a Common Pleas judge, too, so I forgot to be scared." She gave the judge on the bench a dazzling smile. "Yes, I'm in the pictures. I haven't read the articles. I'm sorry."

"Will you please tell the court what happened?" The judge leaned back and relaxed. Several times he covered his amusement with a long hand which he passed over his face.

At the end he set Judy's bond at $1000. She did not flinch. "I cannot meet the amount," she stated as calmly as the associate editor of Under Twenty should state her facts. "If I may get in touch with my father or my fiancé I shall be able to meet the bond you are setting, and obtain a lawyer instantly."

SHE was led away at once. Sandy followed but she swung a heavy door closed before he reached it.

"Where are the telephones?" she asked the attendant who was guiding her. She wondered what people did when they were in jail and didn't have a nickel with which to summon the operator for a call.

The officer who was conducting her on her various missions was genial and sympathetic. Judy smiled again. "Officer, will you lend me a nickel until I summon an operator? Or better still, will you call the operator for me?"

The man grinned sheepishly, found a dime in his pocketbook, and gave it to Judy. She dialed, heard the click which returned the coin and reached from the booth to give the officer the money.

"It's a station to station call, collect," she told the operator. "It's terribly important."

"That number does not answer," the smooth, metallic voice of the operator reported in a moment. "Would you like to try another number?"

Judy gave her father's office number at the court. The call was accepted by Judge Allen's secretary who said: "Judge? Your father is in court. He expected to hear from you so he left a message. I'll read it." She opened a crisp paper whose rustling carried across the wires.

"Have no connection with Judy's escapade. Grant no advice. Judgment and taste inexorably bad. Refuse any responsibility for bail. Time she learned a lesson."

THE world was small and close and tight. The world was no bigger than this telephone booth. That faint voice that tried to speak was not hers. Just the same, it said, "I can make him understand. I was kidnaped! It wasn't a stunt. Can't you make him see?"

"Your father is furious. Sorry, Judy, but I'm not much help. I'll get in all the words I can. He wouldn't take any calls at all from you last night."

"Calls—from me?" Judy's voice whispered. "I didn't call. I've been locked up with a rat that likes to eat. Is—is Philip still at the hotel?"

"Oh, yes, he approves everything your father does."

Judy did not say goodbye. She hung up so quietly even the young officer outside the door didn't know she had finished.

She asked to be escorted to her cell then.

She was aware that Sandy tried to reach her again, but she turned away and held her white, roseless face high. In her cell a new blue calico waited for her. There were white stripes on it. Plainly it stood for something like "Women's Department."

"Been told that you'll be more likely to get cold in that lace stuff," the matron said. "I'll save the white dress until you want it. How soon will you be checking out?"

"I don't know," Judy answered. "Maybe not ever—because nobody will loan me the money for bond, let alone for my fine and costs."

"When do you appear before the Municipal Court?"

From some weary compartment of her mind where she had stored other half-heard suggestions, Judy summoned the answer. "Day after tomorrow."

"Then what will happen?"

"I'll probably go to the state reformatory for women and learn to make hooked rugs."

***

SHE was afraid, more afraid than she wanted to reveal, so she laughed.

She asked for a telegraph blank and sent two telegrams, collect, 200 words each. One went to her father. The other went to Phil.

Now surely answers would come. Perhaps her family had not understood. Maybe Philip thought she had gone sky-riding for the daring of it. Now Sandy would have understood—Sandy! If it hadn't been for his crazy, barnstorming theft of her, she would be married to Phil and wearing a diamond circlet.

Suddenly she looked at the two-karat diamond engagement ring she wore. It was nice. If Phil wanted it she would put it in a black velvet box and send it back, though.

Half an hour passed. Then another. On and on. Regularly either an attendant or the matron came to Judy's cell to plead for an admittance for Sandy. He wrote notes which she returned unopened. Finally, at 4 o'clock she received a telegram.

She opened it, with trembling fingers, and turned to the signa-

Stories in Stamps

George Washington Issue Of Brazil Honors Fair

BRAZIL has honored the father of our country, George Washington, in the 1939 stamp above. It is one of a series issued in commemoration of the New York World's Fair.

Washington was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, Feb. 22, 1732. At the age of 16, he moved to Mount Vernon to reside with his brother, Lawrence. He became a surveyor in the rich valleys of the Allegheny mountains during the summer months of 1748-1750, saved money and purchased property before he reached his majority.

He settled in Mount Vernon in 1759, married, and for 15 years lived the life of a typical Virginia planter. In 1774 he was sent as a delegate to the Continental Congress. When the colonies revolted against England, he was commissioned commander-in-chief and led them to victory.

In 1789, he was unanimously chosen president by the electors of the newly created United States of America. He was re-elected in 1793.

Washington died Dec. 14, 1799, when commander-in-chief of a provisional army raised in the expectation of open war with France.

POST Office Department announces that four stamps have been removed from public sale at the Philatelic Agency, Washington. These are: three-cent Panama Canal issue of 1939; five-cent Louisa May Alcott; 10-cent Samuel L. Clemens; and 10-cent Alexander Graham Bell. The stamps were among those issued in the Famous American series of 1940.

Despite the war, Russia continues to issue new stamps. A two-denomination series marks the death of Mikhail Yurevich Lermontov (1814-1841), poet and novelist. Values are 15-kopeks blue-green and 30k violet. The other, a four-value series, honors V. I. Lenin (1870-1924), founder of the U. S. S. R. Values are 15k and 30k blue-green, 30k violet and 15k red-brown.

It is reported an airmail service between the United States and Liberia will soon start. The government of Liberia is overprinting 300 sets of current airmail stamps for use of postage on first-flight covers from Monrovia. It is also overprinting 15,000 copies of Commonwealth commemorative stamps for airmail use.

Today's Pattern

Favored New Style

Junior girls will be delighted with this pattern for the basque frock which follows a silhouette which is one of the season's favorites. The bodice is long, tapering to a low, snugly fitted waistline, the skirt is gathered, full and flaring. The deep neckline is perfect for colorful choker necklaces or a pair of bright clips. This soft, feminine style is ideal for wool challis or flower printed rayons of the new season.

Pattern No. 8997 is in sizes 11 to 19. Size 13 takes 5 yards 36-inch material without nap. A detailed sew chart which comes with the pattern gives full directions for cutting and completing the frock.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to Sedalia Democrat-Capital Today's Pattern Service, 106 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Wheat And Corn

Both Are Lower

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—After an attempt to advance, the wheat market turned lower today and losses of 1/4 to 3/4 cent were substituted for early gains of almost that much.

Late selling of wheat and other grains was associated partly with a drop of 2 to 3 cents a bushel in soybeans, futures contracts.

Wheat closed 3/4 to 1/2 cent lower than yesterday, December $1.22 1/2 to $1.23 1/2, May $1.27 1/2 to $1.27 1/2, corn 3/4 to 1/2 cent down, December $1.24 to $1.24 1/2, May $1.24 1/2 to $1.24 1/2, cent down; rye unchanged to 1/2 cent off and soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(The Special News Service) — Brooklyn alibi: The Yanks won, but they didn't make them Bums... What really hurt was the calm way the Yanks and the New York fans took it all... The atmosphere was about as charged with excitement as when the Browns came to town... It was the biggest world series crowd in history and one of the quietest after the Bombers started bombing... Only time everybody cut loose at once was when Medwick gave an imitation of the man on the flying trapeze to take Di Maggio's "homer" right out of a $5.50 customer's hands. The fans were holding their breath to give Di Mag a cheer and let it go for the other Joe instead... Di Mag got even in the next inning with a nice running catch of Ducky's fly. Durocher called it just right when he sent in Lew Riggs to hit for Owen in the seventh... Mickey had been the only Dodger to get a real piece of Ruffing's hard one, but the odds were against his doing it again... The percentages must have been against Leo when his next pinch hitter, Wassell, fouled out and Reese was doubled trying to make third. Maybe Pee Wee forgot you can't take that kind of liberties with the Yanks infield... Keller still runs as if he had a flat wheel, but he gets there just the same. He had a hard time pulling up after running for one fly and he had to slide to make it from first to third on Dickey's single in the sixth.

The stadium seemed plumb full of Brooklyn fans before the game. They whooped it up when the Bums came out for hitting practice and rattled the rafters after Camilli and Wassell made a bulls eyes in the right field stands. Even the press box announcer seemed to have Brooklyn's leanings when he said, "Empire at foist base, Pinelli..." Both sides gave Medwick a big hand after that catch and they kept it up until he started to hit in the next inning... The Yank fans were heard when Gordon hit his homer. When Allen started in from the bull pen they might have been hollering, "Here comes Cousin Johnny"... And they wouldn't have been far wrong... Even the Greenper band was subdued... It marched up and down an aisle just before the game and paraded around the field after it was all over.

Today's Guest Star
Kenneth Jones, Peoria (Ill.) Journal Transcript: "A few major league managers are bound to lose their jobs and, knowing this to be the case, what's happened to the old line of the sports writers: 'Babe' Ruth Mentioned'."

Press Box Pickups
Answering the above query, the Babe drew the usual crowd of photographers when he showed up yesterday but the fans didn't give him much of a tumble... Brooklyn can't lose if Russo pitches today... The Yanks snatched him right out of the Bums' back yard at Long Island university... Fred Corcoran, who had a big part in making tournament golf a $200,000 a year business, says baseball is the only real game... The scribes were sitting pretty at the stadium on gilt chairs with plush bottoms instead of the regular seats... Best gag making the rounds was Ray Arcel's reply to a friend who asked, just after the Louis-Nova fight, "How's business, Ray?" — Arcel who had just seconded his tenth Louis victim, answered, "Still picking up."

Best gag making the rounds was Ray Arcel's reply to a friend who asked, just after the Louis-Nova fight, "How's business, Ray?" — Arcel who had just seconded his tenth Louis victim, answered, "Still picking up."

In The Showers...

Yanks Are Quiet, Dodgers Optimistic Over Opener

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
YANKEE STADIUM, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Winning a ball game doesn't mean a darn thing—to the triumphant New York Yankees.

Cocky and defiant, the victorious Yanks took Wednesday's victory as just another ball game. Their dressing room was quiet as a morgue.

Grey-haired Arthur Fletcher, one of the coaches, tried to stir up a little enthusiasm by emitting one piercing whoop. But nobody joined him, so he quit. There was no yelling, no hollering, and not even a pat on the back.

Joe McCarthy, the kindly, bespectacled manager of the Yanks, walked over to Red Ruffing and shook him warmly by the hand and praised his six-hit pitching performance.

Ruffing was dead tired. He pulled off his shoes, lit a cigarette and plopped down in a chair in front of his locker.

The Dodgers were disappointed, but were as optimistic as ever about the series. To a man, they agreed, "The Yanks aren't as tough as we thought they were."

Manager Leo Durocher, Ducky Medwick, Pete Reiser, Curt Davis and the others agreed on this.

The Brooklyn Eagle world series extra carried this eight column banner: "Yanks Win; So What?"

Few Interesting Notes On The World Series

BY BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—It is a shameful confession to make, but so far this is a disappointing world series. Nobody has been given the bums' rush except "our bums"—and that, except in Flatbush and adjoining precincts. The series opener probably set a new high for deportment by the fans.

The one true Brooklyn note, of the Babe Herman era, was struck in that same seventh. This was the episode in which Peeewe Reese, on his own regrettable initiative, decided to go from second to third on a pop foul off the third base line—a pop foul Jimmy Wassell shouldn't have hit, Manager Durocher claimed, because at that particular time he was supposed to bunt.

Realizing "our bums" are invading hostile territory, the police threw a double line across the field the moment the game was over so they could walk undisturbed from dugout to dressing room. Many a Dodger fan felt the line should have been thrown around Red Ruffing, to keep him out of the park.

It is not common practice to erect commemorative tablets to notorious thefts. But some enterprising Brooklyn fan should mark the spot on the low left-field wall where Ducky Medwick was leaning one moment in an apparent "Hell, I can't catch it" attitude, and leaping high a second later to spear a DiMaggio drive that had "home run" spelled out on the stitches.

Incidentally, DiMag and his rival clean-up hitter, Dolf Camilli, didn't clean up a thing.
